

Monitor Your Condition Better With a FREE DayLink® Monitor!

With the DayLink Monitor by your side, you can feel secure knowing that a specially trained nurse is consistently monitoring information on your health status.

Available to qualified participants in the COPD, diabetes and/or heart failure health support programs offered through HealthQuest, the in-home biometric monitoring device transmits your important health data over a secure phone line to the Alere® clinical team. This allows specialized nurses to review your information and provide guidance or even alert your personal doctor if you require immediate attention. If you are eligible for a device, a nurse will let you know that Alere will be contacting your doctor to obtain a prescription for the device. If we do not receive a doctor's prescription for your device, you can still participate in your program with a nurse through the telephonic service option.
