Witness Project® of Kansas Awareness, Education and Outreach program is an African American non-profit health organization, created in 2010, to educate the community on the benefits of early detection of breast and cervical cancer. Our goal is to reduce the mortality rate in women, especially women of color.

The uniqueness of our program is having cancer survivors "witness" or share their personal journey to let others know that with early detection, cancer does not have to be a death sentence.

WITNESS FOR LIFE

THE WITNESS PROJECT® OF KANSAS (WPK) is a health awareness, education and outreach program for women, particularly African American women.

Our aim is to make breast and cervical cancer awareness choices part of a woman's healthy lifestyle.

We address the need to educate, in a culturally relevant manner, the issues surrounding cancer and its detection.

We outreach to women to encourage them to get their annual woman exam including Pap smear and mammogram and to perform ongoing breast self-awareness techniques.

WPK goes where you are -- churches, health facilities, businesses, hair salons, community organizations, and even homes.

WHY?

We want everyone to know you do not have to die from breast or cervical cancer -- especially if detected and treated early.

In Communities...

People Strive to Improve Lives!

At the Witness Project® of Kansas...

We Witness to Save Lives!

If you need help, WPK is here to assist. If health insurance is a barrier, we will help you identify where in your community you can go to have these tests done for free or low cost.

Call WPK for more information on how to attend or host a program. Together with you and the community, we can make a difference!

Witness Project® of Kansas awareness, education, and outreach program (WPK) offers more than just hope; it saves lives.

Our team of Witness Role Models is here to “witness” and testify about their triumphs over breast or cervical cancer, stressing the importance of early detection. Our trained Lay Health Advisors provide you with the knowledge you can use in your own life.

You will learn why it is important to get your annual clinical exam, mammogram, and Pap smear. You will receive the tools to make healthy breast self-awareness choices. We will provide you with breast and cervical cancer facts and address any issues you may have.
