

PrivateWellClass.org helps busy homeowners learn how to care for their private drinking water well by providing training and technical assistance via the Internet. This effort supplements the work performed on the ground by drinking water and environmental health professionals.

PRIVATEWELLCLASS.ORG

WHAT WE OFFER

- Free 10-lesson email course
- Monthly live webinars
- Audio and video materials
- Extensive resource library

COMING IN 2016

- Searchable FAQ
- Spanish-language course

2016-2017 PARTNER ACTIVITIES

Rural Community Assistance Partnership

Assisting well owners with assessments of vulnerability.

Delivering workshops for environmental health professionals on outreach and assessment.

RCAP.ORG

National Environmental Health Association

Launching a new continuing education e-learning course for sanitarians based on The Private Well Class.

NEHA.ORG

National Ground Water Association

Distributing well owner tip sheets and lessons on specific private well topics.

Developing a new video on financing of construction and maintenance.

NGWA.ORG

Water Systems Council

Hosting the national WellCare Hotline.

Updating a state-by-state list of well regulations.

Developing a well owner emergency response packet.

WATERSYSTEMSCOUNCIL.ORG

PrivateWellClass.org is a collaboration between the Rural Community Assistance Partnership and the University of Illinois, through the Illinois State Water Survey and the Illinois Water Resources Center, and funded by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency.